

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS

1. A device for stuffing food, comprising:
 - a) a rollable and unrollable substantially flat sheet, which when rolled with stuffing contained therein forms a tangible, somewhat rigid cylinder that is of comparatively equal diameter on both ends, thus enabling access to said stuffing from either end; and
 - b) a somewhat round and rigid push rod being of slightly longer length than said sheet and of a diameter capable of being inserted into said formed cylinder with said stuffing contained therein.
